Seven Kinds to Know

ANSWER KEY LEARN

Read each kind with your teacher, and say the example out loud. Then write the kind that matches the last two sentences.

WORDS TO KNOW

simile	A comparison that uses like or as. Example: The lake was as still as glass.
metaphor	A comparison that says one thing is another. Example: The lake was glass.
personification	Giving a human action to a thing. Example: The wind knocked on the door.
hyperbole	An exaggeration used for effect. Example: I have a million pages of homework.
idiom	A phrase whose meaning is different from the separate words. Example: Hold your horses means wait.
onomatopoeia	A word that sounds like the noise it names, such as buzz, crash, or drip.
alliteration	The same beginning sound in nearby words. Example: six silent swans.

1. The thunder grumbled in the west. Kind: personification

2. Her backpack weighed a ton. Kind: hyperbole

Simile and Metaphor

ANSWER KEY LEARN

Read the two examples, then tell what each figure of speech means in plain words.

SIMILE

"The hallway was as loud as a gym."

1. The word as tells you this is a simile.
2. The hallway is being compared to a gym.
3. The writer means the hallway was very loud.

The hallway was very loud.

METAPHOR

"The hallway was a gym."

1. This sentence says the hallway was a gym.
2. The hallway is still a hallway, so the writer is stretching the truth to make a point.
3. The meaning is the same as the simile: the hallway was very loud.

The hallway was very loud.

1. Rewrite this simile as a metaphor: The night was as dark as ink.

The night was ink.

Read a Short Story

ANSWER KEY APPLY

Read the scene, then answer each question in a complete sentence.

The Last Inning

by Trailpost

1 The field was a frying pan by the seventh inning. Sweat dripped, the crowd buzzed, and the pitcher stared at the batter as if the next pitch could decide the year. Time crawled while she waited, then the ball left her hand, a white comet, and the bat said crack.

2 "Hold your horses," the coach called, because two runners had already started toward home. The ball dropped into the glove like a stone into a well, and the inning was over.

1. Name one metaphor in paragraph 1 and tell what it means.

The field was a frying pan means the field was very hot.

2. Name one simile in paragraph 2 and tell what it means.

The ball dropped like a stone into a well means it dropped fast and landed cleanly.

3. What does the idiom hold your horses mean in this scene?

It means wait, because the runners started too soon.

Write Your Own

ANSWER KEY WRITE ABOUT IT

Write one new sentence for each kind. Use the sentence starters if they help.

1. Write a simile about a rainy day.
   The rain was as _____ as _____.

   Sample answer: The rain was as loud as a drum line.

2. Write a metaphor about a busy hallway.

   Sample answer: The hallway was a river of backpacks.

3. Write a personification about the wind.

   Sample answer: The wind tugged at my sleeve.

4. Write a hyperbole about homework.

   Sample answer: I have a mountain of homework tonight.

Find the Mistake

ANSWER KEY | ERROR ANALYSIS ★★

Each box shows a student's label for a sentence. Tell what is mixed up, then write the right kind or a stronger sentence.

Noah's label

Sentence: The night was as dark as ink.

Noah wrote: metaphor

1. Why is Noah's label mixed up, and what is the right kind?

The sentence uses as, so it is a simile. A metaphor would say the night was ink.

2. Rewrite the sentence as a metaphor.

YOUR WORK

The night was ink.

Asha's sentence

Asha wanted a hyperbole about a long line.

She wrote: The line was long.

3. Why is Asha's sentence missing the exaggeration, and how can she fix it?

The sentence only states a fact. A hyperbole could say the line stretched to the moon.

4. Write a hyperbole about a long line.

YOUR WORK

The line stretched to the moon.

Explain a Favorite Kind

ANSWER KEY WRITE ABOUT IT

Pick the kind that helps you the most. Explain how it works, then write a new example of your own.

1. Which kind of figurative language helps you the most, and how does it work?
   The kind that helps me is _____, because it _____.

   Sample answer: The kind that helps me is simile, because it uses like or as to show how two things are alike.

2. Write a new example of that kind, then tell what it means in plain words.

   Sample answer: The test was as easy as a warm-up. That means the test felt simple.
